

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

My Castle in Spain.
There was never a castle seen
So fair as mine in Spain;
It stands embowered in green,
Crowning the gentle slope
Of a hill by the Xanli's shore,
And at eve its shade flaunts o'er
The storied Vega plain.
And its towers are hid in the mists of Haze;
And I tell through years of pain
Its glimmering gates to gain.

In visions wild and sweet
Sometimes its courts I greet;
Sometimes in joy its hallings,
I tread with favored feet;
But never my eyes in the light of day
Were blessed with its ivied walls,
Where the marble white and the granite gray.

Turn gold alike when the sunbeams play,
When the soft day dimly falls,
I know in its dusky rooms
Are treasures rich and rare—
The spoils of Eastern climes
And whatever of quaint and fair
Faintly divine have caught and won
From the vault of Italy's air;
White gods in Phidian stone
People the haunted glooms,
And the song of immortal singers
Like a fragrant memory lingers,
I know, in the echoing rooms.

But nothing of these my soul!
Nor castle, nor treasures, nor skies,
Nor the waves of the river that roll
With a cadence faint and sweet
In peace by its marble feet—
Nothing of these is the goal
For which my whole heart sighs;
The pearl gives worth to the shell;
The pearl I would die to gain.
For there does my lady dwell,
My love that I love so well—
The Queen whose gracious reign
Makes glad my castle in Spain.

Her face, so pure and fair,
Sheds light in the shady places,
And the spell of her girlish graces
Holds charmed the happy air.
A breath of purity
Forever before her flies,
And all things cease to be
In the glance of her honest eyes.
Around her pathway flutter
Where her dear feet wander free
In youth's pure majesty,
The wings of the vague desire;
But the thought that love would utter
In reverence expires.

Not yet! not yet! still I see
That face which shines like a star
O'er my stormy-wept life afar,
Transfigured with love for me,
Tolling, forgetting and learning,
With labor and vigils and prayers,
Pure heart and resolute will,
As last I shall climb the hill,
And breathe the enchanted air
Where the light of my life is burning.
Most lovely and fair and free,
Where, alone in her youth and beauty
And bound by her fate's sweet duty,
Unconscious she waits for me.
Written by the late John Hay.

Triplet—Thomas.
The New York Herald of yesterday says, that many prominent people from New York, Baltimore, Washington and Richmond attended the wedding of Miss Dorothy Alice Thomas, to the Rev. Dr. J. Edwin Triplet, son of the Rev. John E. Triplet, of Virginia, associate pastor of the Scotch Presbyterian Church, and member of the well known Triplet family, of Virginia.

The ceremony took place in the Scotch Presbyterian Church, New York city, the father of the groom assisted by the Rev. David G. Wylie, of New York, officiating. The bride wore an imported lace gown and carried a shower of lilies of the valley. She was given away by Colonel Edward Taylor, of New York. The maid of honor, Miss Miss Grace Taylor, of New York, wore lace over white tulle. Her flowers were white roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ann Hughes, of Utica, New York, and Miss Frances Allway, of Melbourne, Australia, were in toilets of Brussels lace over pink silk and had clusters of pink and white sweet peas. Miss Mary Johnston Triplet, of Virginia, sister of the groom, dressed in white, carried a bouquet of roses and scattered them in the path of the bride. Mr. G. Hampton Triplet, of Philadelphia, attended the groom as best man, the ushers being Messrs. Edward T. Moore, of Passaic, N. J.; James E. Triplet, of Baltimore; O. P. Barnhill, of New York and Professor Samuel E. Osbourne, of Princeton.

Mrs. Triplet belongs to an old English family and is closely allied to Lord Roberts, commander-in-chief of the English army during the South African war.

Honeymoon at White.
Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor Lewis, whose wedding was celebrated June 28th in St. Michael's Church, Bristol, R. I., are now at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, where they will spend their honeymoon, going later to Clarksville, Va., where Mr. Lewis has a large stock farm on the Roanoke River.

Judge and Mrs. William Randolph Burdette, whose wedding was a fashionable event of June, at South Boston, Va., are also at the White, where the Fourth was celebrated in becoming and patriotic fashion.

Richmond Chapter Meet.
The Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold a called meeting in Lee Camp Hall, at 11 o'clock.

THE FOOL'S PRAYER.

By E. R. SILL.

Edward Rowland Sill was born at Windsor, Conn., April 23, 1841; died in Cleveland, O., February 2, 1891. He was graduated from Yale in 1861; studied biology at Harvard, did literary work in New York City, taught school in California and Ohio, and was for eight years professor of English language and literature in the University of California. His poems were privately printed under the title "The Hermitage and Other Poems."

THE royal feast was done; the king
Sought some new sport to banish care,
And to his jester cried: "Sir Fop,
Kneel now, and make for us a prayer!"

The jester doffed his cap and bells,
And stood the mocking court before;
They could not see the bitter smile
Behind the painted grin he wore.

He bowed his head, and bent his knee
Upon the monarch's silken stool;
His pleading voice arose: "O Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!"

"No pity, Lord, could change the heart
From red with wrong to white as wool;
The rod must heal the sin; but, Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!"

"Tis not by guilt the onward sweep
Of truth and right, O Lord, we stay;
'Tis by our follies that so long
We hold the earth from heaven away.

"These clumsy feet, still in the mire,
Go crushing blossoms without end;
These hard, well meaning hands we thrust
Among the heart-strings of a friend.

"The ill-timed truth we might have kept—
Who knows how sharp it pierced and stung!
The word we had not sense to say—
Who knows how grandly it had rung!

"Our faults no tenderness should ask,
The chastening stripes must cleanse them all;
But for our blunders—O, in shame
Before the eyes of heaven we fall.

"Earth bears no balsam for mistakes;
Men crown the nave and scourge the tool
That did his will; but thou, O Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!"

The room was hushed; in silence rose
The king, and sought his gardens cool,
And walked apart, and murmured low,
"Be merciful to me, a fool!"

this fore noon when delegats will be elected to the San Francisco convention, plans formulated for the State convention of Daughters to be held here next autumn, and several amendments to the chapter constitution will be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown Abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Willard Brown, of New York, who went abroad after their wedding in early summer and have been in London for several weeks are now making an auto tour of France and having a delightful time.

Mrs. Brown, as Miss Mary Russell, of Winchester, Va., was considered one of the most beautiful women in the South. Mr. Brown's father, Mr. Vernon H. Brown, of New York, is vice-president of the Cunard Steamship Line, and his son is a member of the New York Yacht, Rockaway Hunt and other clubs. He is related to the Willard and Brundage families of New York.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement has just been announced of Miss Madeline Whitelade, daughter of the late Brigadier-General Samuel M. Whitelade, United States Army. The wedding will probably be in Washington, D. C., in the autumn.

Miss Whitelade is an accomplished girl of a blonde type, and has been much admired since she made her debut in Washington several years ago. She is now at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, with her mother. Later she will go to Canada.

Mrs. Keesee a Hostess.

Miss Beede Ingles, of Richmond, was a guest Monday evening at a delightful entertainment given by Mrs. C. B. Keesee, of Martinsville, Va., in honor of the Misses Hawley, of Ruffin, N. C., who are visiting her. Miss Jessie Whitaker, of New Market, Tenn., and Miss Margaret Smith, of Appomattox, were also among the guests from a distance.

Miss Tucker Entertained.
Miss Rosa Johnston Tucker, daughter of Hon. St. George Tucker, was given a beautiful card party on Saturday forenoon last by Miss Virginia May, of Staunton, Va., whose guest Miss Tucker is at present.

The rooms were decorated with ferns and daisies, and refreshments were served at the close of the game. The occasion was most enjoyable.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Clifford Smith and children are summering at Mr. R. H. Houseworth's home, in Orange county.

Miss Katherine Blair Winston, of Baltimore, who visited relatives in Richmond and at Glen Allen and attended Richmond College finale, has returned to Baltimore.

Information has been received here of the arrival at the city of a party of Richmonders, consisting of Mrs. James E. Harvie, Mrs. James E. Cannon and Misses Addie Chaffin and Martha Harvie, who recently sailed from New York on the Numidian.

IMMUNES REUNION.

March Over Old Route and Are Served With An Army Dinner.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., July 4.—The Fourth Immune Veterans and Comrades met in reunion at the old camp ground this morning, and at noon an army dinner was served. At two o'clock the parade was formed under the supervision of Col. E. D. Cole, Chief Marshal with Capt. M. B. Rowe, J. B. Woods, W. H. Hurkamp, Col. M. E. Ugan and S. C. Cox as aids, escorted by the Washington Guards of this city, with a band of music and the same route was followed which the regiment went over July Fourth, 1868, when the command was formed.

The parade reached Hurkamp Park at 3:30 o'clock, and an address of welcome was made by acting Mayor W. S. Embrey. Capt. F. V. Alexander, of Washington, responded, after which refreshments were served.

Tonight a meeting was held at the opera house. Music and addresses were the features.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI.

Meeting of Fredericksburg Association and Banquet.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., July 4.—The annual meeting of the University of Virginia Alumni Association of this city, was held today, Judge A. W. Wallace presiding. A committee was appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of the late Dr. J. D. Burwell. Judge T. N. Welch, of Caroline, was appointed a member of Executive Committee. Judge J. B. Mason, Professor Thomas Fitzhugh, C. O'Connor Goolrick and W. W. Butzner, were named as delegates to the general association, at the business session a banquet was served at the Exchange Hotel.

WOMAN SEVERELY CUT BY ANOTHER

Ambulance Surgeon Had to Take Twenty-Seven Stitches.

WOUNDS MEASURED TWO FEET

Much Silk Used to Close Darkey's Wounds Received Yesterday.

Yesterday was cutting day for the Fourth of July celebrants, and sewing day for the ambulance surgeons, especially Dr. Witten, who had to take numerous stitches in punctured skins as the result of wounds inflicted by knives in the hands of belligerents.

The worst victim of the gentle art of carving was Blanche Taylor, a negress, who resides at No. 119 Mayo Street, but who had wandered into the vicinity of the Second Police Station, on West Marshall Street, when her troubles began. Blanche became involved in a forcible argument with another of her kind and sex, and her adversary proved to be a handy carver, as Blanche will attest. An inventory of her injuries shows that she has three cuts extending for a total distance of about twenty-four inches. Dr. Witten, of the ambulance corps, attended her at the Police Station, and took a total of twenty-seven stitches to close her three knife wounds. One of these was a severe cut on the right shoulder, requiring six stitches; another on the right cheek required seven stitches, and a slash from her shoulder to her right elbow needed fourteen stitches. It would have been a good holiday's work for a seamstress. The other woman was treated and held for felonious cutting. The fracas occurred about 2:45 P. M.

Dr. Witten was called to Second and Arch Streets at 10:30 A. M. to attend Dave Kenney, a colored man, who had sustained a severe cut on the left arm. Six stitches closed the rent.

At 6:15 Dr. Witten and the ambulance were called to the Rosenberg Brewing Company's plant, where James Taylor, a colored man, had become involved in a violent altercation with a mule. The mule landed a knock-out on Jeem's left shoulder and back, inflicting painful bruises, but no serious results. He was treated and left.

At the Second Police Station at 3 P. M., Floyd Washington, a small negro lad, of glorious patronymic, was in a stupor from the effects of alcoholic poisoning. The youngsters discovered a pint of whiskey, and let it trickle into his anatomy until he lost consciousness. Dr. Witten administered an antidote and the boy was reported out of danger last night.

Up to 8 o'clock last night there had not been a single casualty as the result of dynamite, fireworks or fireworks of any kind. The good record may be spoiled before dawn, however.

LOOKING AFTER CROPS.

Hon. Bland Massie Not Worrying Over Nomination for Senate.

State Senator Bland Massie, of Nelson county, arrived in the city yesterday and is at Murphy's Hotel for a few days. The Senator looks as if he had been harvesting hay or oats rather than stumping Amherst and Nelson counties against his opponent for the Senatorial nomination. Mr. A. E. Strode, of Amherst, when he was reminded of the fact, he modestly admitted that the incident was a good one. "I told my friends," said the Nelson Senator, "that they would have to fight my battle for me as I just had to get up my crops, whether I won or lost the nomination."

Senator Massie was rather averse to discussing his own prospects, further than to say that he was very well satisfied with the situation.

My friends tell me that Nelson county will give me from four hundred to six hundred majority, and some of them claim that I will carry Amherst also. It is going to be close in Amherst, according to my information."

Senator Massie stated that he was for Senator Martin for the United States Senate, and frankly admitted it wherever he went. However, he had many friends among all factions and the supporters of all the candidates.

INSIDE HISTORY.

Gentleman Says Montague Drew Fitz Lee Resolution.

Much has been written concerning the fight for United States senator in 1893 between General Fitzhugh Lee and Senator Martin, when the latter won out, but it has just come to public notice, and on error Montague was in Saluda on the day the senatorial convention of the Thirty-ninth District met there, and that he personally drew the resolution which committed Senator J. N. Stubbs to vote for General Lee.

The resolution drawn up by Mr. Montague was placed in the hands of Dr. L. S. Foster, the then chairman of the Mathews county Democratic Committee, and he was unanimously adopted. Heretofore it has not been generally known that the resolution was drawn by Governor Montague.

Council to Meet.

The Common Council will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The session will be the regular one for the month of July, postponed from Monday night on account of the failure of the body to secure a quorum.

A Correction.

To the Editor of The Times-Dispatch: Sir,—It was stated in a recent communication to your paper that my father, H. B. Dawson, charged with a felonious assault upon a deaf mute, was unable to procure counsel in Lynchburg, and had engaged Mr. George T. Rison of Catham, to defend him. I write to say that your correspondent was misinformed. Only one lawyer in Lynchburg was applied to and at the aforesaid statement tends to prejudice the case of my father with the public. I ask that you publish this correction.

Respectfully,
J. T. DAWSON,
Lynchburg, Va., July 3, 1905.

JUSTICE JOHN WORE A PATRIOTIC SMILE

Has Number of Applicants for Justice on Nation's Natal Day.

Wearing the patriotic smile that won't come off, Justice Crutchfield stepped to the tune of the "Star Spangled Banner," yesterday morning, and forthwith upon ascending the throne read a passage from the Declaration of Independence.

Sergeant Thomas was exquisitely gowned in a black frock coat, with pants to match. He wore around his number seventeen collar a lovely creation of red, white and blue.

Mr. Gibbons came in on the arm of Mr. Robins, and both were decked in the national colors.

Sidney Parkinson, erstwhile employee of Uncle Sam, who has been residing in Fulton, started on a trip to celebrate. Sidney didn't just understand what event it was that happened on the eve of the Fourth, and he didn't inquire very persistently. But Sidney first abused Mrs. Page, and then threatened to do awful things to Alex. Myers. When taken charge of, he told Officer Hughes something about a peaceful cemetery and six feet of earth. Sidney paid $5 for abusing Mrs. Page; was assessed $10 on the Myers account, and the same amount for informing the patrolman of the little moss-covered grave. Security was required of him.

Clarence Cooby, proved to the satisfaction of the court, that Joe Silber was likely to injure some one, and therefore Joe will have to keep the peace for six months or forfeit three hundred dollars.

W. P. Vellen, contractor, was assessed $5 for taking sand from Shoccoke Creek. Early Baptist, the little pecksnifter that stole money from the office of Dr. Syde, was sent to the reformatory.

Kate Richardson was disorderly in the station house, and got ten days for it.

A Delightful Fruit Feast.

A very delightful fruit feast was given at Forest Hill Park Monday night by Misses Edna Valentine and Hortense Pope to a number of their young friends. The merry party took the car at 8 o'clock, and after a pleasant ride to the park enjoyed strolls through the various walks until about 10 o'clock, when an elegant fruit supper was served, after which the party returned to the city.

Among those present were Misses Emma Childs, Olga Gibrich, Minnie Burkert, Edna Valentine, Ruth Valentine, Hortense Pope, and Messrs. Thomas Ballou, Oscar Enoch, Milton Smith, and Herbert Richards. Mesdames Valentine and Richards chaperoned the young folks.

Nice Sum for Ice Mission.

The bazaar for the benefit of the Ice Mission, which was held at No. 1118 Grove Avenue by the Misses Adelaide and Virginia Rothert, Kate Trauerman, Algeo Kahn, Sophie and Helen Galecki, netted $28.28.
